

THE ROTHSCHILD FOUNDATION

Potential Housing Project in Waddesdon

The Rothschild Foundation have arranged a Public Consultation with regard to a potential housing project they are considering in Waddesdon.

It comes at a time when a great many new homes are required across the Vale of Aylesbury, with an unprecedented number of planning applications in progress. There will be pressure on the Waddesdon village to expand its borders and to welcome a larger community in the coming years. Accommodating a sustainable level of growth whilst keeping the village identity is the Rothschild Foundation's primary concern. We recognise that additional housing might not be welcome by everyone and wish to engage with the community to hear their views and how to consider the need for growth.

There are two sites, Golden Mede and Warmstone Lane collectively known as "The Golden Mede", located in the south of the village and adjacent to the Waddesdon estate where the opportunity exists, subject to all the relevant permissions, to deliver new homes.

At present these principles are indicative since this is a very early stage of a long journey to see what may be acceptable to the community, AVDC and the Rothschild Foundation.

The Public Consultation will run from 8:00 am to 8:00 pm on Thursday 17th July 2014 at the Waddesdon Village Hall. All members of the public are invited to come to view the proposals and to offer comments and thoughts.

The Rothschild Foundation, under the chairmanship of Lord Rothschild, supports a broad range of philanthropic activities, continuing the family's longstanding commitment to the environment, sustainable development and green energy, arts and heritage, education and social welfare
